August 2007 – Gateway Plaza completed at port

The CBSDC, in partnership with the Corner Brook Port Corporation has constructed a welcoming plaza to better greet the increasing numbers of cruise ship passengers and other port visitors as they disembark. The landscaped plaza and information kiosk provides a pleasant staging area for visitors and local entrepreneurs to plan their adventures ashore; it is also a trailhead to the network which will allow users to tour the city on foot.

The plaza includes signage depicting the trail network map with photos and text describing the sites and attractions throughout the city. From this area, walking visitors are directed safely into the downtown via the Waterfront Connection trail built on the former rail bed. This trail also features a rest area and interpretive signage describing the history of the Newfoundland Railway and the construction of the adjacent paper mill in the early 1920's.
